

It is already the case that the media are mostly acting at the bidding of the party in power in Washington. I need to consult foreign newspapers (such as in England, Canada or Australia) for balanced perspectives. The proposal to allow complete deregulation will eventually mean that any one area receives only one perspective. That is very undemocratic.